

Microondes team member pictured by L'Express!

By chance* we got aware about the recent publication by lexpress.fr showing one of our electro-hypersensitive team members in a blinded caravan (No 3154 page 106-108)

The article “La révolte des électrosensibles/Sous le choc des ondes” was published 14/12/2011 it deals with problems of people affected by EHS [Electro-HyperSensitivity] are facing in our modern wireless world.

Some are so serious affected that they have to survive in caves, which isn't that funny as it might sound in the first run. Others are more moderate affected, but also more and more excluded by “modern society”!

Now as we are facing the fourth generation of mobile phones \(4G \(LTE\)\) \(click\), more and more people will get sick and might get sooner affected by EHS, which is irreversible.

More information

EN – This article (English)

EN - Automatic translations of the online source article: English click

FR - Source: L'EXPRESS article 14/12/2011 (short online version)

FR - L'EXPRESS journal \(No 3154\) journal article 14/12/2011 (print version - PDF)

FR - * electroallergique.wordpress.com